By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

"For nothing is secret, that shall not be made manifest; neither anything hid, that shall not be known and come abroad."

If the United States Chamber of Commerce were in the tailoring business it would take half a yard of cloth off the shelf and design a full dress suit.

It is indeed enjoyable to listen to a Pan-American concert in which Mexico doesn't insist on beating the tom-tom.

The Army and Navy forever, Three cheers for the dread black and blue!

Theater sinks in Chesapeake Bay. Larger vessels may venture far, but show-boats should keep in the Mississippi.

New York man whose name is stricken from the jury lists on the ground of being an admitted bigot is ordered restored by the appellate court. He is doubtless regarded as dumb enough to serve on any American jury.

Two big steel concerns merge, another striking indication of the changing fashions in opinion in this country toward corporations. The trust-buster will probably be out of a job for another whole generation.

The British importer who says that in five years the straw hat will be a thing of the past probably knows more about a London fog than he does about a Washington August.

Still, it's a comforting item for Prof. Beeswax P. McGinnis, Grand Sachem of the Year Without a Summer, to clip and paste in his scrap book.

San Francisco and Detroit are nip and tuck in the race to land the G. O. P. convention although it's a little too early to say whether California's vines or Michigan's proximity to Canada will triumph in the end.

Chairman Butler, of the House Naval Affairs committee, says that never again will America tow a brand-new battleship out to sea and sink her while Great Britain scraps a blueprint. Hindsight is more expensive than foresight.

Who remembers how the old-time saloon keeper with a plug hat and a curled black mustache, and a diamond in his shirtfront the size of a chunk of anthracite coal, used to stand on the sidewalk and smile at a parade of the Sons of Jonadab? Well, the Antislavery League will probably give the same kind of a smile when it reads about this dinner over in New York at which plans will be discussed for the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. We didn't get prohibition in a day, and we won't get rid of it in a day, either.

The Union League Club movement against prohibition will be worth another million to the Antislavery League's campaign collectors.

Capt. Richard D. White of the Navy, delivers a Thanksgiving Day article without getting anything for it in advance from the Saturday Evening Post.

Frederick the Great, first War Lord of Germany, returns to his proud pedestal at the War College, from his refuge in the cellar, but we don't recall that during the late unpleasantness anybody bothered to throw any bricks at old Baron von Steuben, the well-known Prussian militarist, who stood serenely in his accustomed place in Lafayette Square and saluted George Creel every day as he passed by in state on his way to the Shoreham front.

"O wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us, To see ourselves as others see us." Some Pow'r has given Thomas A. Edison this gift, and he both sees and hears himself in the talking movies. As Frank Daniels used to say, "Am I a Wiz?"

Mr. Shearer tells the truth about American naval inferiority without running the risk of being spanked by a bureaucrat. It's time somebody did.

Senator Jones sees no necessity for Chairman Butler to hire Gen. Crowder.

Prominent banker throws a boot-jack at the Cat.

It seems that after all, unfortunately, the Constitution reposed in Congress and not in the Pifflebund, the power to declare war. We need a few more amendments to improve upon the work of Washington, Madison, Jefferson and Hamilton. Here's a job for the Borahs and Norrises.

Thieves rob Al Smith of his dress suit and the next thing you know somebody will be trying to take the nomination away from him.

Armistice goes into effect at Folsom prison and Chicago—not a shot fired for 24 hours.

PRESIDENT REBUKES U.S. CHAMBER STAND ON TAX REDUCTION

Seeks Big Appropriations While Demanding Cut of $400,000,000.

PROPOSAL ABSURD, EXECUTIVE DECLARES

Belief Is He Will Veto Revenue Measure Carrying Too Deep Slash of Levies.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The cleavage between President Coolidge and the United States Chamber of Commerce was further widened yesterday when the President made known in no uncertain terms his impatience at the organization's continued advocacy of a $400,000,000 tax reduction.

While the chamber is doing this, it is said at the White House, it is at the same time sending runners around to all the Government departments urging increased expenditures here and increased expenditure there. On behalf of the President it was said if there is a more absurd proposal regarding Government finances he does not know what it could be.

Some time ago, the President suggested that the chamber, in his opinion, could serve a more useful purpose in advocating economy at the coming session of Congress. He could be looked upon to urge as much reduction as possible, he was represented as feeling. And on several occasions he has sought to emphasize that tax reductions are made possible only by sparing appropriations. Agencies to advocate reductions are plentiful in his opinion, so he thought that inasmuch as the Chamber of Commerce was interested it could help him out a great deal with his advocacy of economy.

Mellon for $225,000,000.

Since the chamber first came out with its recommendation for a $400,000,000 reduction, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has formally recommended a cut of $225,000,000 and warned that it would be dangerous to go above that figure. Even the Democrats on the House ways and means committee have taken heed of the warning and dropped $400,000,000 as their maximum figure in favor of one around $300,000,000 or $325,000,000. The committee as a whole has agreed upon a reduction of $225,000,000 as based on its own figures, or $250,000,000 when the figures of the Treasury as to the expected revenue losses are taken.

But even with the committee now rounding out a bill within this limit, the commerce chamber in a statement Thursday again demanded a $400,000,000 reduction.

This was too much for the White House and it provoked an unusually strong expression in the President's behalf.

The President is at a loss to understand the chamber's financial philosophy.

3 Killed as Husband Seeks Reconciliation

Fainesville, Ohio, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—

Peter McCrory, 47; Fred Cook, 29, and Alex Cook, 26, are dead, and Arthur McCrory, 29, son of Peter McCrory, is in a hospital with a bullet wound in the arm as a result of a shooting affray here today.

Police declared Peter McCrory turned a revolver on the two Cooks, his stepsons, when they interfered after he had gone to his estranged wife's home and sought to talk to her.

Both were killed instantly.

Arthur McCrory next sought to dissuade his father and received a bullet in the arm. The elder McCrory, police declared, then shot himself in the head, dying instantly.

NO MERCY FOR MEN WHO ROB GOV. SMITH

Executive Declines to File Charge, but Judge Gives 180 Days Each.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 25 (A.P.).—Invading the executive mansion where Alfred E. Smith, governor and potential presidential candidate, has been a tenant for seven years, two sneak thieves "snatched" three garments from a clothes closet yesterday and ran away while the governor and his family were holding a Thanksgiving reunion in an adjoining room.

The governor learned from the police that his dress coat and an ulster and racoon coat belonging to Al Smith, Jr., had been stolen, he declined to enter a burglary complaint against the intruders.

Judge John J. Brady recognized the prisoners when they were lined up in his court on charges of vagrancy today. They described themselves as Raymond Dyer, of Hoboken, N. J., and David Lewis, of Nova Scotia. They had faced the bench a few days ago and the judge gave them another chance. But his honor today did not show any leniency. He committed each man to the county penitentiary for 180 days, telling them as he did so that they were "contemptible liars." They had said they did not know that the "big house" they invaded was the home of Gov. Smith.

Naval Attache's War Cry Stirs Navy Department

Service Circles Predict Capt. R. D. White Will Be Admonished Because of Address Given Before American Club in Paris.

Probably Will Comment Later, Asserts Wilbur, After Hearing That the Speaker Said U. S. Will Win in Next Conflict.

Predictions that Capt. Richard D. White, Naval Attache at the American Embassy in Paris, would soon join the Summerall-Magruder "properly spanked" club were heard in Army and Navy circles yesterday following publication of Capt. White's Thanksgiving speech at Paris, predicting that "the next war" would find the United States adequately prepared for complete victory. The State Department was interested in his speech, as well.

The result was the intimation in service circles that Capt. White would be admonished for an action which apparently does not meet with official approval. Secretary Wilbur declined to say whether the Navy department had asked for a copy of Capt. White's speech, which was given at the American Club. He said that he had read

EDISON SEES AND HEARS SELF IN TALKING MOVIE

Pictures and Voice Recorded 200 Miles Apart, Then United on Film.

CLOSE ADJUSTMENT MADE

West Orange, N. J., Nov. 25 (A.P.).—The wizard of West Orange tonight saw and heard himself as others see and hear him. Thomas A. Edison, attending the first showing of a talking movie of his recent radio interview, sat back in his chair, watching and listening, as the film flashed his likeness on the screen and as a radio loud speaker changed into words and sentences the tinny lines impressed on the celluloid by his voice.

The picture was the work of the General Electric Co., which showed it to the inventor in his laboratory. Only members of the Edison household and a few friends were present.

A dextrous synchronization of two electric motors made possible realistic appearance of Mr. Edison on the screen. Picture and voice were recorded nearly 200 miles apart, the former in the Edison library where the interview was held, and the latter in the General Electric Research Laboratory at Schenectady.

The inventor's replies to the questions of his interrogator were carried as electric impulses over a telephone wire to the upstate city, where they were recorded on a film moving at exactly the rate of speed of the camera that was taking the picture here.

Two negative films, after development, were transposed on a single positive, which was used this evening.

FORBES, TERM ENDED, FREED FROM PRISON

Former Veterans Bureau Director Leaves at Once for St. Louis.

Leavenworth, Kans., Nov. 25 (A.P.).—Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States Veterans Bureau, completed service on a two-year term in the Federal penitentiary here and was released at midnight. Col. Forbes was met at the prison by John Rogers, St. Louis newspaper man. They remained here only long enough for Col. Forbes to give out a prepared statement in which he said he intended to devote considerable time to articles on the country's prison system.

Forbes was sentenced for a term of two years and fined $10,000 upon his conviction in Chicago in 1925, on charges of defrauding the Government in awarding contracts for veterans' hospitals.

Completing his term on October 27, Forbes took an oath that he was unable to pay the fine and began serving the 30 additional days required in such cases. He applied for a parole several times, but was denied clemency.

Arrest Faces Mate Of Gloria Swanson

Los Angeles, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—A warrant for the arrest of the Marquis de la Falaise de Coudray, husband of Gloria Swanson, was issued today by the municipal court when he failed to appear to answer three charges of violations of city traffic laws.

The Marquis was arrested a week ago today for speeding on a busy boulevard intersection, failure to obey a stop signal, and not having an operator's license.

Tidal Wave Flings Boat Into Treetop

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 25.—A great tidal wave swept over the Ayzen River region of southern Chile yesterday. The sea invaded the coast over an area of 25 miles, covering the land for 325 feet inland.

The boat Manessix, with its crew, was flung into treetops in a forest near the coast. No lives were lost.

Underwood & Underwood. CAPT. RICHARD D. WHITE.

reports of the speech and that he probably would comment on the incident later.

Capt. White was quoted as having said in part: "Our stake in the last victory was comparatively small and we have not been crushed, but it was bad enough to make us wonder, if this be victory, what defeat is like. It may possibly be a question of life and death to us. It will probably not be a question of life and death to us."

5 TOWNS IN NICARAGUA OCCUPIED BY SANDINO

U. S. Marines to Open Bomb Campaign; Americans May Enter Cabinet.

NEW PLANES RECEIVED

Managua, Nicaragua, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—The government was advised today by Jose Francisco Moncada, leading official at Cootal, that cavalry of Gen. Sandino, outlaw, has taken possession of the villages San Fernando, Ciudad Antigua, El Valle, De Arroyo and Hacienda Orsi.

Ciudad Antigua was sacked and burned in 1926 and again in 1929 by the English buccannery, Sir Francis Drake and William Dampier. Fearful of Sandino's followers, the inhabitants fled to the mountains, as their ancestors did centuries ago.

An intensive bombing campaign will be started shortly by United States Marine aviators against outlaws and bandits, who are reported killing and robbing many innocent persons in several regions of Nicaragua.

The Marine aviators have been supplied with new airplane equipment and plans have been taken to insure the safety of peaceful travelers in the affected areas, where ranch houses have been burned and their inhabitants reported to have been murdered.

El Comercio, local Nicaraguan newspaper, has published a report that the Nicaraguan cabinet will be remodeled by the appointment of American officials to various cabinet posts.

Mexico City, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—All passengers aboard the Ward liner Mexico, aground 3 miles off Vera Cruz, have been removed safely, says a telegram from that port to the headquarters of the Mexican Railroad.

The vessel was still believed in danger.

Port Arthur, Tex., Nov. 25 (A.P.).—The Gulf Refining Co. radio station says it has maintained communication with the Ward liner Mexico since she went aground at 3:45 o'clock this morning on Buquilla Reef, near Vera Cruz.

The refining company station said an S O S was received from the captain of the Mexico immediately after she went aground. The captain reported a light sea running and stated the ship appeared in no immediate danger. However, the S O S call has not been rescinded, the radio operator here reported.

The reef on which the vessel grounded, about 20 miles from Vera Cruz, long has been considered a treacherous place by gulf navigators. It was the grave in 1924 of the United States cruiser Tacoma.

'CAT' THIEF ROUTED, PROBABLY WOUNDED, AS BANKER SHOTS

E. E. Thompson Fires 3 Shots at Man Seen Lurking in Yard.

CITIZENS AND POLICE, ARMED, SCOUR WOODS

Board of Trade President Is Halted by Posse; All Doctors in Capital Warned.

Fired upon at almost point-blank range, a midnight marauder, believed to be the "Cat," again last night made his escape after he had been discovered attempting to gain entrance to the home of Eugene E. Thompson, senior member of the banking firm of Crane, Farris & Co., at 3028 Forty-fourth place northwest.

Mr. Thompson, firing an automatic pistol, is confident that he wounded the man, who was only a few feet from him when he discharged the pistol. The man made no attempt to fight back at Mr. Thompson, but turned and ran into a nearby woods.

Placing credence in Mr. Thompson's assertion that he had hit the marauder, police early this morning launched a thorough canvass of all doctors in the city. A description of the man was broadcast to all police precincts with instructions that it be given to every policeman when he reported at 10 o'clock this morning. The patrolmen in turn were instructed to advise every doctor on their beats and tell them of the incident and of the likelihood of the man calling for treatment. Immediately after the shooting all hospitals were instructed in the case.

Armed Posse Seeks Woods.

An aroused citizenry, armed with weapons ranging from stove poker to shotguns, and 25 policemen from the Fourteenth Precinct Station at an early hour this morning were searching the woods and the surrounding neighborhood in an effort to apprehend the man. They had been unable to find any trace of blood.

Forming in front of the Thompson home, the posse espied the figure of a man near the corner of Hawthorne street and Forty-fourth place. Running after him, with baseball bats and drawn pistols, they surrounded him and made him explain his presence. The man stammered embarrassedly, and finally succeeded in explaining to his aroused neighbors that he was E. C. Graham, former president of the Board of Education and now president of the Washington Board of Trade. Aroused by the shots and the shouting in the street, Mr. Graham said that he had come out to find out what it was all about. He then joined the search.

Mr. Thompson told police that he had fired three shots. When the second was discharged the man lifted his arms over his head and screamed as though in pain. Mr. Thompson said. He did not alter in his stride, but ran across the lawn of Mr. Thompson's

EXECUTION MOURNERS SHOUT AT U. S. EMBASSY

Relatives of Man Shot in Plot to Kill Obregon Stage Demonstration.

'VIVA CRISTO!' THEIR CRY

Mexico City, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—The streets outside the American Embassy today resounded with shouts of "Viva Cristo Rey" ("Long Live Christ the King") as the funeral procession of Juan Tirodo, last of four men executed for alleged participation in a plot against the life of former President Obregon, passed the embassy building. His three companions, Miguel Agustin Projuarez, a Catholic priest; Humberto Projuarez, his brother, and Luis Segura Vilchis, were buried yesterday. Tirodo's coffin was carried on the shoulders of overworked workers, who were followed by several hundred men and women, all of the poorer classes. Most of them wore overalls and the women wore black mantillas thrown over their heads.

All, seemingly by agreement, turned their heads as they passed the American Embassy, and shouted "Viva Cristo Rey" at the top of their lungs. Dwight W. Morrow, the recently-arrived American Ambassador, was in his private office and heard the cries. He asked "What is the matter?" and members of the embassy staff rushed to the doors and windows to ascertain the cause of the disturbances. The funeral procession passed without further incident. Tirodo's body was claimed by friends and relatives after it had been announced that he would be given public burial unless relatives claimed the body.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—Straw hats, of both the soft and stiff varieties, will be a curiosity in five years, said David Greene, straw hat importer, on his arrival from England today on the Cunard liner Mauretania.

The straw is already a thing of the past on the Strand, Greene said, although the Prince of Wales appeared in one last summer. As Americans follow Englishmen in the matter of dress, the hatter explained, straw likewise will disappear from Fifth Avenue.

BACHMAN MERGER PLAN FOR CAR LINES OMITS GUARANTEES

Allows 9 Per Cent to Be Earned on 5-Cent Fare and Less on Greater Rates.

BUS FIRM AND POWER COMPANY ARE EXCLUDED

Proposer Is Employee of Utilities Commission, Which in No Way Sponsors Project.

The Bachman merger plan, fundamentally at variance with the Wilson plan, was made public by the Public Utilities Commission yesterday without comment. Among its principal features are:

No guarantee of costs to be entered into by the commission to save the consolidated street car corporation from loss and no valuation or rate of return to be agreed upon.

Property of the company used and status for the public to be valued at the end of a year and with that valuation as a rate base, a sliding scale of rates of return to be adopted, permitting the new company to earn a high as 9 per cent, if it can, on a five-cent fare, 6 per cent on present fares and not more than 4 1/2 per cent if the fare is increased to 10 cents.

Both the Potomac Electric Power Co. and the Washington Rapid Transit Co. to be omitted from the merger, the power company because its consumers' interests might be jeopardized, and the bus company because it is losing money and would constitute a load for the merged street car concern to carry.

Power From Pecos.
Power to be furnished for street car operation alone by the Potomac Electric Power Co. at cost plus reasonable return.

Par value of securities on the new company not to exceed combined par value of securities of present companies and not to be counted as an indication of valuation for rate purposes; there not to be changed for a year, except to lower them for school children.

The plan was drafted by Byers McK. Bachman, accountant for the Public Utilities Commission, on his own time, as his personal contribution to the merger discussion. The commission, in giving it out for publication, took pains to state that it is in no way sponsored or expressed any opinion of it, but that it would take it, along with all other plans submitted, into consideration when the time for public discussion has arrived. Introducing his plan, Bachman says:

"Within the past ten years, when fares have been increased and automatic means of conveyance has become popular, the electric railways as a whole have been facing disaster. Since 1918 in many instances fares have been increased as well as elsewhere, but with continued shrinkage in passengers the companies are not as prosperous in 1927 as they were in 1918."

Public Cooperation Needed.
"It is obvious, therefore, that to the extent of solving the transit problem here, the electric railways must have the sympathetic understanding and cooperation of the public if they are to continue to perform a useful public service; that they can be restored to normal basis only by introduction of economies in operation, improving tracks, equipment and service, that effective public cooperation should be exercised by eliminating as far as possible special assessments for paving, crossing permits, etc., and that increased revenue be secured through increased patronage by an attractive fare rather than increased fares that would surely reduce patronage."

The details as outlined then follow: Economies not only in operation and elimination of special permits, but also in reduced depreciation, are named, and are estimated at $1,000,000 a year. The estimate of net operating income to be made possible as a consequence is $3,200,000, without including the variable factor of increased patronage. The plan to insure reduction, rather than increase, of car fare, is set forth in the following language:

Information to Be Ascertained.
"After twelve months' operation the fair value (rate base) of the property of the consolidated company devoted to public use in the District shall be ascertained by the commission and fare schedules will be adopted that will automatically adjust the return on rate base as determined, as follows:

| Schedule | Cash fare | Token fare | Rate of return |
|----------|-----------|------------|----------------|
| 1        | 5 cents   | 10 cents   | 5 per cent     |
| 2        | 6 cents   | 12 cents   | 6 per cent     |
| 3        | 7 cents   | 14 cents   | 7 per cent     |
| 4        | 8 cents   | 16 cents   | 8 per cent     |
| 5        | 9 cents   | 18 cents   | 9 per cent     |
| 6        | 10 cents  | 20 cents   | 10 per cent    |

"In event the consolidated company, after determination of the rate base, earns in excess of the return under the schedule of fare under which it operates, a part of such excess shall

Citizens' Federation May Elect Utilities Chairman

Secrecy of Committee in Handling Merger Problem
Has Engendered Criticism Which May Result in Chairman Being Named From Floor of Meeting.

An effort to compose the dissension that has arisen among delegates to the Federation of Citizens' Associations, over the manner in which the public utilities committee of that body has been handling the merger problem may result in an unprecedented election of the chairman of the committee by ballot on the floor of the next meeting, December 3, it was stated yesterday.

William McK. Clayton, chairman of the present committee, has been inactive during the past year, and Maj. Clayton E. Emig, vice chairman, who has been acting chairman during Clayton's retirement, have both been considered candidates for chairman of the committee for the coming year.

Clayton is an outspoken critic of the Wilson merger plan. Emig has been a sponsor for Charles H. Hessel, utility engineer, who has made a transit survey of the city, and has been in the terms of which have not been made public, but which are at variance with those of the Wilson plan. Pressure is said to have been brought to bear on James G. Yaden, president of the federation, and on George C. Haveren, vice president, in behalf of both of them and from other quarters have come suggestions that neither be named, but that the committee be thoroughly reorganized.

Yaden is in the State of Washington on official business for the Civil Service Commission, by which he is employed in his absence. Haveren is acting president. Yaden will not be back in time to preside over the December meeting, at which his new committee appointments are due to be read. Haveren will preside.

Haveren said last night that Yaden had left with him, before departing from the city, a skeleton of committee appointments. The appointments could not be completed, Haveren said, because the personnel of the committee had been changed during November, in which month many associations elect delegates. Yaden asked him to complete the committee and present the new committee at the meeting a week from tonight.

"The welfare of the federation is paramount," said Haveren. "I have not yet decided what my course shall be, but I am considering asking the advice of the federation as to the chairmanship of the public utilities committee and that the delegates ballot on the chairman."

One of the questions that has divided delegates, especially among the members of the present public utilities committee, is that of who is paying Hessel for his expensive work in having conducted the transit survey and drafted a merger plan.

Last spring Maj. Emig reported to the federation that the committee wanted to engage Hessel to do the work and that it would cost the federation nothing. On that statement he was authorized to go ahead.

It was then said repeatedly since that an agreement was made between Emig and Hessel that $5,000 was to be paid by the committee for the work. A subcommittee of three, headed by Admiral J. Strauss, was appointed to raise the money. Admiral Strauss shortly thereafter resigned from the committee.

Hessel says he did not get the $5,000, but agreed to go on with the survey as a public spirited work. Emig says the same thing. But the survey cost several times $5,000, it is said.

About a month ago Emig called a meeting of the committee at which Hessel was present and pleaded with the members a resolution favoring a proposal to the effect that if his merger plan was adopted by the District Commission, he should undertake to find the money for the survey either out of the funds of the merged street car company or of the public treasury.

Some of the members of the committee objected. One rumor had it that both Clayton and Emig were to be dropped from the membership of the new committee because of their opposition.

Haveren did not discuss details of committee membership further than that he had been asked to find a way to get the committee elected with many delegates and that he would not let any personal consideration sway him, neither would he undertake to elect minorities from that or any other committee.

He paid into a reserve fund. The fund so maintained may, with the approval of the commission, be drawn upon in years when earnings do not equal the rate of return under the schedule under which the company operated. When this fund equals 5 per cent of the fair value of the property, payments thereto shall cease, although it shall be credited with all accretions of interest thereon."

Relation With Power Concern.
The relation of the Potomac Electric Power Co. to the merger plan is set forth as follows:

"If it were possible to include the Potomac Electric Power Co. in the consolidation, it would secure for the company to receive the full benefits of its enormous earning power without jeopardizing the interests of its 90,000 customers, it would secure for the company a transit question. There is not a more efficiently managed electric corporation in the Nation, as evidenced by its low rates. Hence, it would seem to be a disturbance of its present method of operation under the proposals herein its own revenues would be greatly increased and, at the same time, serve to reduce the cost of power to the consolidated street car company."

Dr. Pierce, who saw service overseas during the war, said yesterday that he had heard of such a movement but that he was not taking any part in it. The name of the Rev. William S. Shacklette, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Advent, was also brought forward yesterday. ## CONSTANTLY OBSTACLE TO PEACE TREATY BY COOLIDGE

Feels Pact Can Not Deprive Congress of the Right to Declare War.

DANGER SEEN IN PLAN ADVANCED BY CAPPER

President Believes Declaration of Antioch Policy Would Be Possible.

(Associated Press.)
Eager to discuss with world powers proposals for the outlawing of war, President Coolidge feels, nevertheless, that the Constitution of the United States presents a serious difficulty in the way of a binding treaty.

It was recalled yesterday at the White House that the Constitution places with Congress the responsibility of declaring war. Mr. Coolidge believes Congress can not, therefore, be deprived of this power by any treaty, but he does not see a treaty representing a declaration of policy is possible.

The President indicated a desire to engage in conversations with other nations on the subject of outlawing war. He said that such treaties, believing considerable good would come from public concentration upon the subject.

Would Have Treaties Separate.
However, he does not see the way clear for a general conference of the nations on the subject of outlawing war. If treaties are to be negotiated, he thinks they should be made separately between governments.

In this connection, Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee yesterday advocated that the principle of the proposed treaty to outlaw war between France and this country be extended to negotiations with all other leading world powers, including Great Britain, Italy, Japan and Germany. There are indications a general conference of these nations on this subject would be desired by some congressional leaders.

Danger Seen in Capper Plan.
While there was no direct comment at the White House on the proposal of Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas, to have a treaty with the United States to abstain from trading with any nation waging aggressive warfare, it was indicated that the President saw danger in such a policy.

Definition of the word "aggressor" was seen as the stumbling block, and it was felt that the necessity of determining which nation was the aggressor would be unduly complicated by country into actual hostilities. A similar view has been expressed by some members of Congress.

While negotiations between France and the United States over the proposal of Foreign Minister Briand, of France, for a treaty to outlaw war are still far from the treaty-making stage, there is increasing interest in this subject manifested in Congress. Senator Borah will reintroduce his resolution, including Great Britain, and Senator Capper will do likewise in a resolution asking also that action taken with regard to aggressor nations.

A new wireless convention which will regulate international radio for five years beginning January 1, 1929, was approved here yesterday. It was drafted by the International Radio Conference, which adjourned after signatures of delegates from 79 nations and territories had been attached to the document.

In addition to the convention, which has been under negotiation since the conference convened here October 4, approval was given two sets of regulations for the operation of radio communication. Land, ship, aircraft, and all other kinds of wireless activities are contemplated and standards of communication in each case is set up. Licensing of stations and operators also is defined.

The second set of regulations was approved by all countries except the United States and Canada, and consisted of such regulations as the United States considered infringing upon its private radio management. These articles deal mostly with the fixing of radio charges.

Secretary Hoover, who presided over the conference, delivered a closing address in which he analyzed the major provisions of the convention and marked that the harmony and cooperation displayed by the delegates set a high standard for the progress of international relations.

The chief problem facing radio, he said, namely, the efficient utilization of the limited number of channels, had been solved by the convention, which was unanimously approved by the delegates.

The next conference will be held in Madrid in 1932.

YOUTH KILLS RIVAL AS GIRL STANDS BY

Quarrel Over Right to Escort
Her Home Ends in Shooting.

Special To The Washington Post.
Danville, Va., Nov. 25.—Details were received here today of a shooting in Patrick County, in which Luther Jarrett killed Ernest Thomas as a result of a quarrel over the right to escort a girl home.

Ernest Thomas, a 17-year-old mountain boy, Jarrett, it is said, had been paying attention to Miss Thomas, a young girl, who made the acquaintance of Thomas. Both became regular callers at her home.

Yesterday night, Jarrett, who was met there and engaged in a controversy as to who was entitled to the "date." The girl's father drove both away and would not let them return.

The shooting took place Wednesday night, when Miss Thomas, returning to her home with groceries, encountered first one, then the other admirer in the road. Both demanded the privilege of escorting her home. Thomas, it is said, said "I have a mother in heaven and a brother in hell, and I'm going to see to it that you don't get hurt." Jarrett, says the report, then drew a revolver and fired five shots at Thomas, who died shortly afterwards.

Jarrett was taken to the hospital, but was arrested yesterday at Mount Airy, N. C.

PAN-AMERICAN CONCERT ATTRACTS MUSIC LOVERS

Buhlig Pleases Students With Delicate and Dainty
Touch at Piano.

Two excellent concerts were given yesterday's program of current events in Washington, and many music lovers gathered in the Hall of the Americas of the Pan-American Union in the morning to hear the third annual concert of Latin-American music given under the auspices of the Friday Morning Club.

The soloists were Esther Cuttich, pianist; Maria Paz Gainsborg, Bolivian soprano, and Lolita Cabrera Gainsborg, Bolivian pianist, while marimba solos were effectively played by Technical Sergeant John Bauman, of the United States Army Band.

Miss Cuttich, in her program of Latin-American music, displayed a rounded tone and a delicate and high gift of interpretation. Vocally, Miss Maria Gainsborg was adequate, and her sister artist, Miss Lolita Cabrera, was equally good.

The second concert of the day was that of Richard Buhlig, American pianist, at the Central Community Institute of Washington, in cooperation with the Arthur Jordan Piano Co. This concert, given in the afternoon, was arranged for the students of piano and other instruments in the city, and the artist bore this well in mind in his comprehensive program.

Mr. Buhlig has a finished style and a pleasing tone. His first group he played Bach's "Fantasy in C Minor" in a masterly manner, a Jig, by Mozart, and Schubert's "Musical Moment," most of which were familiar to the students. Then he played a group of Debussy numbers with delicate and dainty touch and a whiff of mystery.

BOY, 12, MAKES ADDRESS

In celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Russian revolution, 200 members of the Washington branch of the Workers' Communist Party of America and other Soviet sympathizers held a meeting last night in the Playhouse, 1814 N street northwest.

William R. Ruston, member of the national executive committee of the Workers' Communist Party of America and district organizer of New York, was the principal speaker. He has recently returned from a trip to Russia and he gave an optimistic picture of that country under Soviet rule.

Ruston has succeeded in proving that the working classes can fill all the offices of government and industry better than they are filled in capitalist countries, he said, and this in spite of the handicap of economic and financial blockades. The industrial production of Soviet Russia today is greater than Russian production under the czar in 1914, he declared.

REMUS HEARS SLAIN WIFE'S DAUGHTER TELL OF SHOOTING

Sobbing on Stand, She Says
Mother Protested Love
When Shot Down.

REPORT OF ALIENISTS IS FILED WITH JUDGE

Elston, Defense Attorney, Declares He Will Not Be Bound by It.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—The three court physicians appointed to pass upon the mental condition of George Remus filed a partial report today and the rumor spread that they had decided that he was sane when he shot and killed his wife in Eden Park, October 8 last, and sane as he now stands trial for his life.

It was the outstanding development in a day which brought testimony against Remus by his sister, adopted daughter and wife's sister-in-law.

Mrs. Gabriel Ryerson, of Plainfield, Mich., sister of Remus, who has lived in his paternal home here since his wife, Mrs. Elston, died, testified that when he left home for the automobile ride which ended in the slaying of his estranged wife, she had "a feeling that something was going to happen."

Mrs. Ryerson also testified that she had received a report through her husband, Elton, that Remus was shooting at her and that she had fled from him.

Remus himself seemed deeply moved by the young woman's testimony. His face paled and he hurriedly fumbled among papers piled up by his counsel while in front of him. He regained his composure, however, as her narrative lengthened and upon cross-examination once arose with an argument upon a point of law.

Miss Remus detailed the chase of the Remus automobile after the taxicab in which she was riding, her escape to the divorce court; her overhauling by the faster machine; the shooting and ride with her dying parent to a hospital. Her story ended with a brokenly burst of crying.

The young woman nearly collapsed when the blood-stained clothing her mother wore was placed on a table in front of her. Her testimony was given in a voice barely audible 10 feet away.

Mother Shouted in Alarm.
The first she saw of the slayer, she said, was when her mother's car was in the taxicab window and exclaimed excitedly, "There's Remus!"

She then started to step from the taxicab and he grasped her by the right arm.

Will Rogers Sees Prince Carol Two Wives From Throne

Special to The Washington Post.
Beverly Hills, Calif., Nov. 25.—All the day's news came from Europe. Rumanian's dictator died, so that helps Prince Carol's case. He is only two wives removed from the throne now.

Another headline says "100,000,000 More Men Under Arms in Europe Than in 1914." "England Sends Word to Italy to Lay Off Jugoslav." Its taken a long time for Europe to get back to normal, but its slowly doing it. Yours, WILL ROGERS.

"He was swearing fearfully and pulled her up close to him and shot her."

"Mother cried, 'Daddy, daddy, I love you!' and 'Daddy, daddy, don't do it! He struck her on the head with his fist. 'I grasped the lapels of his coat and shook him and asked him, 'Do you know what you are doing?'"

"Did you see any blood?" asked Sib-bald.

The young woman had retained some composure, but during her long statement she had the mention of blood she sobbed anew.

Knew She Was Dying.
"Did your mother say anything about dying?" she was asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "On the way to the hospital she said to me, 'I am dying. I said, 'Oh, mother, you are not.' She said, 'Yes, I am. Isn't George terrible for doing this?'"

The next time she saw her mother was after she had testified. Miss Remus, with convulsive sobs shaking her slender frame and her face buried deep in her hands.

The report of the alienists met violent objection from Charles H. Elston, counsel with Remus, who is his own chief of counsel. He demanded that the report be taken into consideration at this stage. The defense had not made its representations of transitory mental insanity, he said.

Charles P. Tatt, 2d, county prosecutor, put in: "No, and they have not heard our rebuttal, either."

"The report," he said in open court, as the record shows, that he would agree to a selection of the personnel of the alienists and would be bound by their report," said Judge Charles R. Shook.

Elston Not Bound.
He directed Elston to let him know by the opening of court tomorrow morning "what your attitude is."

"It is absolutely essential," the judge asserted.

Elston later said that by no means would he be bound by the report of the alienists.

Another case for the alienists was found when Remus moved that they be permitted to appoint a chemist to analyze candy sent to him. Remus was not to be allowed to do so.

The chemist who found the sweets contained quinine and not poison. There will be a single session of court tomorrow, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

COURT HOLDS ATHEIST AS PASTOR'S ANNOYER

Rules Pretended Effort to Convert Dr. Straton Could Not Be Sincere.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Doubting that any man could be sincere in an effort to shake the religious convictions of the Rev. John Couch Straton, a magistrate today ordered Charles Lee Straton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, to stop his efforts.

The defendant, who is president of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, had repeatedly said that his object in sending the various publications, pamphlets and letters to the fundamentalist pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, was to convert him to atheism.

Magistrate Gottlieb, however, said, "I do not believe that they were sincere in their efforts to convert him to atheism."

The magistrate said the question was not one of theology, but one of whether the penal code could be violated.

Big value at little expense is reflected in the fact that the defendant's attorneys, who were paid $100,000 for the case, have today to Main 4205.

ELSTON IN PRISON MURDER SURRENDER AFTER 11 ARE DEAD

Threat to Flood Cellhouse and

SIX HELD AS LEADERS to Awe Convicts.

Folsom Prison, Calif., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Hopefully beleaguered by a force of national guardsmen and civil officers equipped with weapons of war, revolting convicts at the State prison here meekly surrendered today, ending a mutiny in which 11 men were killed and more than a score wounded.

Threats by Warden Court Smith that the cellhouse in which 1,200 of the prisoners were barricaded would be flooded and that the rebels would be starved, contributed to the collapse of the mutiny, but the deadly array of riflemen stationed on a hill overlooking the prison was the principal factor in the capitulation.

Six convicts and two prison guards lost their lives in the pitched battle yesterday between the rebellious prisoners and the besiegers. Seventeen convicts were wounded and four guards injured.

The Conservative majority at the last election was more than 9,000. The by-election was necessitated by the elevation of Ronald McKinnell to the peerage.

The Quicksands of Investment

For the Consideration of those who Value their Money

MANY millions of dollars are sunk annually in this country in the quicksands of promise and profit which unscrupulous promoters and others hold out to investors as "sure things," "wonderful opportunities to easy wealth and luxury."
There is hardly a person in Washington who does not know some man or woman, some widow or daughter, whose fortune, large or small, has been sunk beyond recovery and repair in the financial quicksands that abound in spite of protective laws and repeated warnings.
Don't let your funds go this way. Don't be lured by promises and assurances of big returns. Before you invest a dollar, investigate both the investment and the house from whom you buy.
Shannon & Luchs welcome investigation. In nearly a quarter of a century, no investor in a Shannon & Luchs First Mortgage Note has ever lost a penny. No interest payment has ever been late; no Note has ever been unpaid at maturity.
Shannon & Luchs First Mortgage Notes are secured by first mortgages on improved Washington real estate. The mortgages behind the Notes are never for more than 60% of a fair, unbiased appraisal of the property, and in almost every instance are payable in full in three years.
In addition to the above safeguards, each Shannon & Luchs First Mortgage Note is endorsed by the borrower, who thus becomes directly responsible to the noteholder for payment and interest. Shannon & Luchs, through whom principal and interest are paid, see to it that the property is fully covered by the necessary insurance and that it is maintained at all times in first-class condition.
To the small as well as large investor and to those on a salary who wisely desire to build an estate for future contingencies Shannon & Luchs First Mortgage Notes provide maximum safety and a sure, safe return of 6% per year.
Issued in denominations of $100, $250, $500 and $1,000 3-year, First Mortgage Notes, bearing interest at 6%.

THE POWER TO MAKE WAR.

One of the devices contrived by individuals who are anxious to tie the hand of the United States in the hope of abolishing war is the proposal that this Nation shall agree not to support the aggressor in any future international war. That is a plausible suggestion, seemingly quite innocuous. It can be held with good reason that the United States will never knowingly aid any nation to make aggressive war upon others. So why not declare this policy in advance, in order that nations contemplating aggression may know that the United States will not be neutral toward them?

The difficulty, however, is in determining who is the aggressor. Who expects the German people to admit that Germany was the aggressor in the late war? Who was the aggressor in the Russo-Japanese war?

Foreign Minister Chamberlain told the British House of Commons on Thursday that it was impossible for him to define an "aggressor nation" in case of war. He asserted that by clever diplomacy a nation really an aggressor might make itself appear to be acting solely in self-defense. Everybody knows that this is true. Thus the United States, by declaring in advance that it would never support an aggressor, might find itself in the position of supporting nations that were really aggressors, masquerading as injured parties. By taking sides either way the United States would be drawn into the war.

The proposal to boycott "aggressors" is on a par with the proposal to make treaties "renouncing war." They are futile ideas so far as preventing war is concerned and mischievous ideas so far as involving the United States is concerned. The treaty-making power of the United States can not make a valid treaty taking from Congress the power to declare war. Neither can Congress deprive itself of that power by a "declaration of policy," as is now suggested. No future Congress can be prevented from declaring war whenever the honor, vital interest, or independence of the United States is assailed. Declarations that it is the policy of the United States to renounce war would be empty and meaningless if an enemy should attack the United States. Americans would fight. They would not deserve to be called Americans if they did not fight.

All the schemes to abolish war overlook the fact that war is sometimes desirable, not to say necessary. A cowardly surrender of national right is worse than war. Thank God, the righteous and ample power to make war remains with the American people, to be exercised whenever in their judgment it is necessary. No President, no treaty-making authority, and no Congress can take away this power.

TODAY'S BIG GAME.

Today New York City will be the host of thousands of Washingtonians, including high officials of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, to witness the annual gridiron clash between the West Point cadets and the midshipmen of the United States Naval Academy.

The Army and Navy game is not merely a contest between 22 men, but is a clean-fought battle from start to finish between 1,350 men composing the corps of cadets on one side and the entire regiment of midshipmen on the other side.

The Army is a two-to-one favorite to win, probably because on November 12 the West Pointers beat Notre Dame, 18 to 0, while Notre Dame beat the Navy, 19 to 6, on October 15. But this record does not tell the story. The winner will not be known until the final whistle has been blown. Those who witness this battle will see superb sportsmanship from the start to the finish of the game.

The Polo Grounds will hold 75,000 or more, but this is only a fraction of those who applied to one of the two academies for tickets. There were 700,000 applications for tickets, all told.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS.

It is only within the last few years that the idea of beginning in January to save for Christmas took root in the mind of some thoughtful banker, but the idea has spread into every corner of the land. As late as the beginning of the present decade scarcely a hundred banks maintained special Christmas accounts for their depositors. The distribution of Christmas money this year will be made by approximately 8,000 banks. The total savings are reported to exceed those of 1926 by 25 per cent, while the number of depositors is 12 per cent greater than last year.

While most of the deposits are in small amounts—as low as $1 per week in some instances—the aggregate runs into the millions, which will find its way into the Christmas trade and back to the banks through the accounts of the merchants.

The whole advantage is not to be found in the certainty of a well-lined pocketbook available for Christmas. The "club habit," like other habits, grows where once formed, and results in permanent saving among many people who, until they were led to making the test, were not inclined toward thrift and economy.

Christmas Savings Clubs, while purely American in origin, have their counterpart in England, where the goose instead of the turkey is the piece de resistance of the Yuletide feast. Scores of English fiction writers, from Blackmore to Dickens, have described the workings of the "goose clubs" which thrived in every "pub" from Land's End to the Tyne. In many of these the tippler was denied the right to buy a pot of beer unless he would consent to contribute a few 'apence each week toward the cost of the goose, without which the "doner and the nipper" would fare badly indeed at Christmas time.

MOTORDOM'S COMING BATTLE.

On May 26 Henry Ford got back into harness after convalescing from injuries received in an automobile accident, in time to see the 15,000,000th Ford run off the Highland Park assembly line. Not long thereafter he ordered all his plants shut down for the purpose of re-tooling for manufacture of a new model. On December 2 the model A, successor to the 15,000,000 model T's, will be introduced to the waiting public.

In announcing the date of display of model A, Mr. Ford issued an optimistic review of world business conditions. Business is good, he said, national wealth is increasing, individuals have more money, and there is every indication of continued and increasing material prosperity. People buy cautiously only when there is a scarcity of money. There is no money shortage today, nor will there be one next year. Therefore, during an era of great prosperity, the model A will be introduced.

The announcement comes at a period when automobile production is at its lowest point. Dealers are being permitted, according to Automotive Industries, to reduce stocks in preparation for the 1928 selling campaigns. If there is any adverse factor upon the outlook for the industry, the magazine adds, it is the state of the used car market and of used car stocks. Nevertheless, there is reason to believe that the coming year will be unusually profitable.

With Henry Ford back at work, the automotive industry will take on intense activity. Other organizations have wasted no time in attempting to invade the market that always has been considered his. They will not relinquish their newly won fields without a battle. A colossal industrial battle is imminent.

Ford, however, has played a smart game. Scores of rumors have been permitted to seep from his factories regarding the new car. Invariably they have been denied, but the denials have only served to whet public curiosity in regard to what surprise the Ford Co. had in store. Recently pictures of what was said to be the model A have been published, but no one knows whether or not they are authentic. Several days ago a freight car was backed into a siding and several burlap-covered masses, which may or may not have been Fords, were removed to the storeroom of a New Jersey dealer. Mystery and reticence surrounds the forthcoming display. Never has a product been as widely and as cheaply advertised.

The world awaits the new Ford with keen curiosity. Is it to become the forerunner of another 15,000,000 motor cars each as like the other as mechanical ingenuity can make it, or is the old magician of the motor world up against competition that will force him to use all his millions in a losing fight?

JURISDICTION OVER AVIATORS.

The first case involving the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce over commercial aviation has just been decided by Secretary Hoover. S. A. Reiss, an aviator, was charged with failure to obey the regulations against low flying. The evidence submitted to substantiate the charge was deemed sufficient by the Assistant Secretary of Commerce to warrant the imposition of a fine and suspension of the flier's license for 90 days.

Reiss appealed from the decision, setting forth that the law under which the punishment was inflicted is unconstitutional, in that Congress has no power to regulate intrastate commerce. Secretary Hoover has decided that the suspension should terminate at the end of 33 days, instead of remaining in force for the full 90 days. Reiss's license is therefore restored. Mr. Hoover reduced the fine from $500 to $25. According to the attorney for the aviator, this decision will be accepted, and the contemplated appeal to the courts will be abandoned.

While there have been other cases wherein aviators have been punished by the suspension of their flying licenses, the Reiss case is the first in which the constitutionality of the air commerce act of 1926 has been brought up. In rendering his decision Mr. Hoover has not directly passed upon the contention of the appellant wherein it is contended that so long as the operations of the aviator are confined within the lines of one State the laws of that State only can be made applicable. Mr. Hoover was aware that the violation of the regulations occurred while Reiss was engaged solely in the intrastate operation of his plane. The inference, therefore, is that Secretary Hoover is satisfied that the jurisdiction conferred upon the Department of Commerce extends to all fliers, without regard to State lines. That interpretation will stand until and unless the courts shall place a different construction upon the act.

DETECTING CANCER IN TIME.

Cancer, once regarded as a rare disease, has come to be known as one of the most frequent. Oftentimes it is curable. Nevertheless, the death rate from cancer is increasing annually, and it is said that more persons die of this disease each year than are killed by railroads, street cars, automobiles, fires, drownings, machinery, poison, homicide and suicide all put together. The fate of more than one in ten of the grown population of the country is to die of cancer; a deplorable record, in view of the fact that early treatment can save life in the majority of cases.

The American Society for the Control of Cancer has inaugurated a campaign designed to educate the general public as to scientific opinion about cancer. After six months of careful consideration by a committee of the foremost authorities on cancer among research men, surgeons, physicians, radiologists and statisticians, a series of short articles have been prepared for newspaper publication. "In presenting the public with facts which should cause a wholesome concern about cancer," say officials of the society, "the newspapers are regarded as therapeutic agents. It must be made plain that time is an important item in dealing with cancer. Once it starts, it never stops of its own accord."

The American Society for the Control of Cancer is not interested in any particular type of cure. It does not diagnose or treat cases, and it has no connection with any hospital. It simply collects facts from all over the world and puts them into reports for medical men and the public. The present campaign is designed merely to extend the scope of its work.

Tuberculosis has been brought under control largely through general public education. Cancer should yield to the same treatment. If the public learns that cancer tendencies can be forestalled if treated in time, if it learns to look suspiciously upon certain general symptoms that can not be otherwise accounted for and realizes the wisdom of reporting such symptoms to the family doctor for diagnosis and treatment, the toll taken by cancer can be considerably lessened. Toward spreading these doctrines the press will prove an invaluable agent.

MERGER SCHEMES.

No fewer than three traction merger schemes now are ready for public consideration. That of Harley P. Wilson, owner of the Washington Rapid Transit Co., was made public in incomplete form several weeks ago. Another, originated by B. M. Bachman, chief accountant of the Public Utilities Commission, was divulged yesterday. A third, drawn up after a comprehensive survey of the local situation by the firm of Charles Hansel, public utility specialists, has been completed and its details will be divulged within a few days.

The public, individually and through the citizens' associations, has been studying the project carefully and has gained a complete and comprehensive knowledge of the difficulties involved. A new Public Utilities Commission, of competent personnel, assumed office several months ago, realizing at the time that a traction merger was the most important task confronting it. Utility interests themselves are not opposed to a merger, provided it can be consummated on advantageous terms. The time for consolidation seems to be propitious.

Whether in any of the proposals now before the public lies the key to the problem remains to be seen. By taking the better points of each it may be possible to draft a workable compromise plan. The public is not very sanguine as to an immediately successful outcome. The problem is complicated by the variety of interests that must be protected and served. The public has learned not to expect its interests to be made foremost in any scheme of consolidation.

THE BREAK AT FOLSOM.

There is something radically wrong with the management of the prisons of California when convicts can secure sufficient arms to aid them in maintaining a siege for eighteen hours.

The list of casualties at Folsom shows 9 dead, 2 dying and 21 injured as the result of a revolt never before equaled in an American penal institution. The fact that the entire body of felons did not gain their liberty was due to the prompt action of two of the guards in blocking the door through which the escape was to have been made. From the dispatches telegraphed from the prison it is learned that the aid of the State militia as well as the United States Army had to be called before there was a sign of submission. All the appliances of modern war, including airplanes, gas and tanks, were brought into play, and even then it appears that only the possibility of starvation and the flooding of the prison led the instigators of the plot to surrender.

Just how many firearms and how much ammunition were in the possession of the prisoners at the time of the outbreak has not been learned, nor has any one the faintest idea of the source of supply. All that is known is that 1,200 desperate men were able to obtain a sufficient supply of arms to hold the guards at bay. The fact that the plotters failed in their purpose does not excuse the prison authorities for their lack of vigilance. California owes it to itself, as well as to the rest of the country, upon which the desperadoes would have preyed, to punish those responsible for criminal neglect.

TOO MUCH SPECIALIZATION.

A resolution has been placed before the National Grange asking the American Medical Association to aid in reforming the present system of medical education so that there will be in the future an adequate supply of doctors to care for the health of the 30,000,000 residents in rural communities. The medical specialist, according to proponents of the resolution, has sounded the knell for the country doctor and the general practitioner. There are increasing hosts in rural communities who are medically helpless, while the cost of medical service continues to rise. Young men being graduated from medical colleges no longer look for practice in the country, and there is a demand for a practical medical course to fit the general practitioner for worthy service in his community.

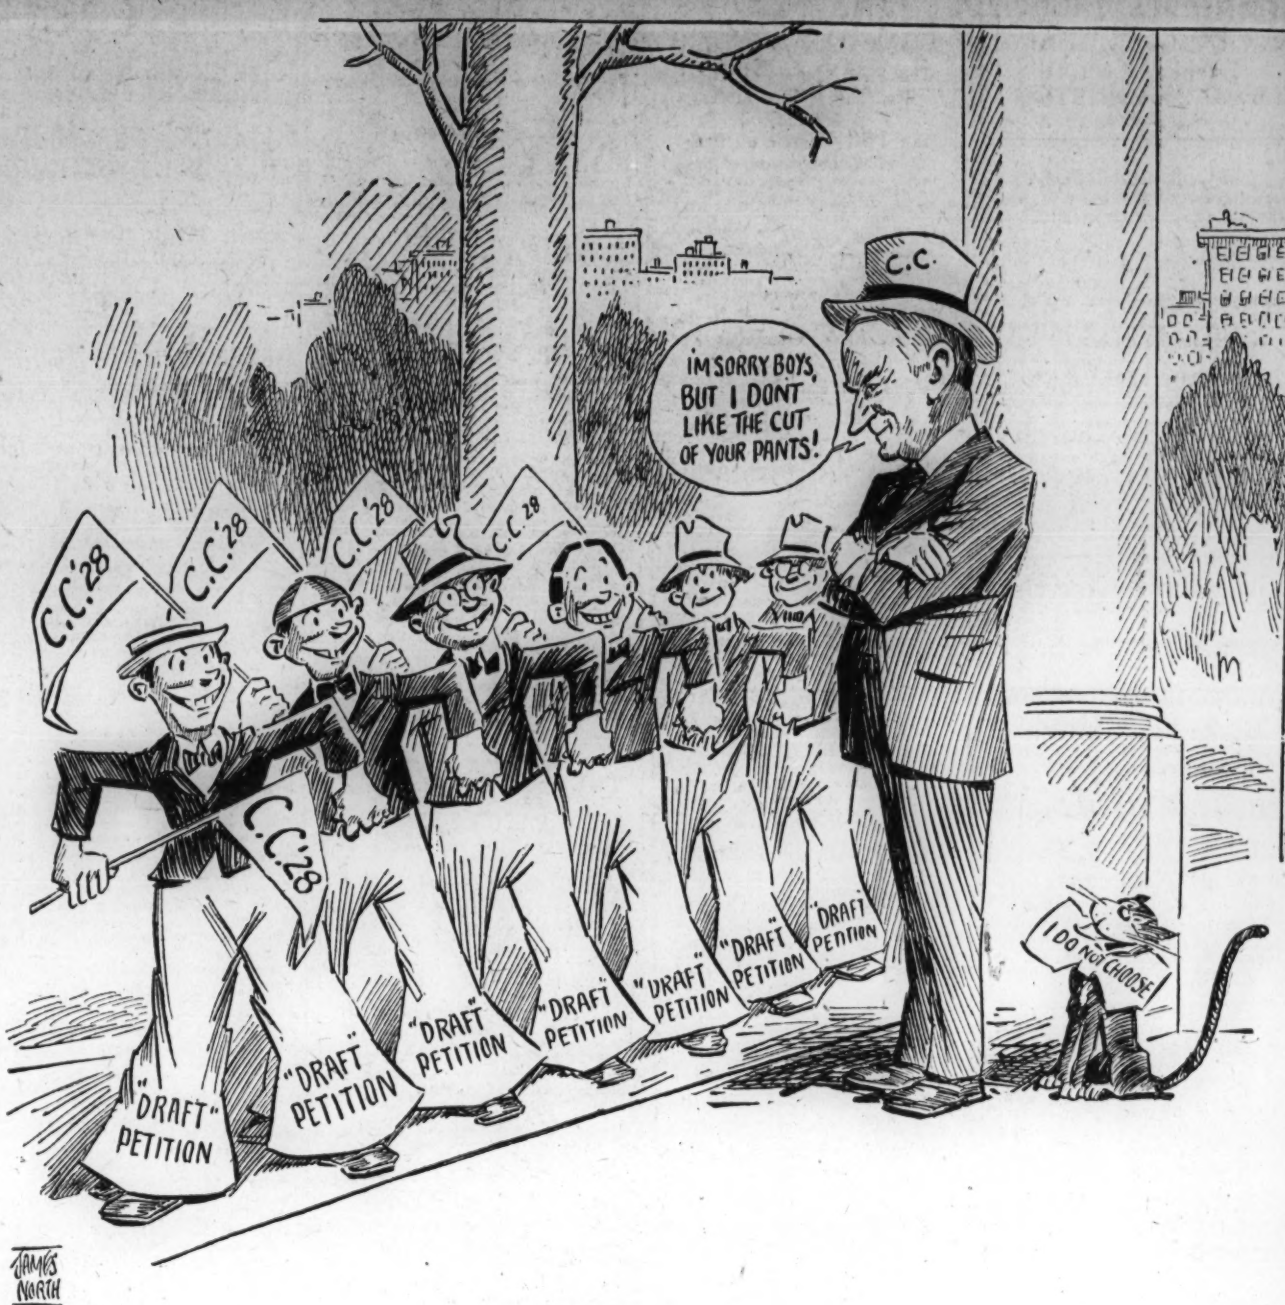

The death of general medical practitioners is general. Even in large cities it is not easy to find the old-fashioned doctor who will assume the responsibility of caring for the family along old-fashioned lines. Ill health today necessitates a round of medical specialists, each possibly more competent than the general practitioner in his chosen line, but none willing to assume responsibility for every type of case.

In justice to the medical profession it must be admitted that there is little reason why a young doctor should assume a general practice. The family doctor at best leads an unpleasant life. His time is not his own. He never knows when he may be called out upon a case. As contrasted with the fixed office hours of the specialist, his office is never closed. Furthermore, great financial reward comes not to the general practitioner, but to his classmate who practices only the intricacies of surgery, or prescribes for special ailments. The medical profession and the medical schools realize that specialization may be carried too far. Steps are being taken to correct the situation, and it is probable that from now on a considerably greater proportion of medical graduates will engage in general practice.

The hard thing to decide while reading a detective novel is whether you are madder at the detective's dumbness or the author's.

Doubtless most of our fire-eating patriots have already picked out the kind of desks they will use in the next war.

Why all the fuss? A wet President couldn't change the law and a dry one couldn't make it effective.

PRESS COMMENT.

Traffic Fatalities.

Brooklyn Citizen: Automobile accidents were responsible for 686 deaths in 77 large cities in the four-week period ended November 5, 1927, the Department of Commerce announces, this being an increase of ten over the corresponding period ended on November 6 a year ago. In the 52 weeks ended November 5, 1927, automobiles caused 6,965 deaths against 6,649 in the similar period the preceding year. In the four weeks ended November 5 there were 124 automobile deaths in New York City, compared with 110 in the same period last year. In the 52 weeks ended November 5, this year there were 1,090 fatalities in New York City, compared with 1,060 for the preceding twelve months. The automobile death rate increased in the city from 17.9 to 18.3. These figures are certainly not encouraging.

Expressive Explanation.

Louisville Courier Journal: The woman with a Polish name, who in her examination for naturalization answered the question as to the duties of a mayor, that they are "to see that everything is hoty-toty," displayed a familiarity with the language at least, which gives assurance of her ability to acquaint herself with whatever is needed for the exercise of a citizen's duties and privileges.

Queer Ones.

Topeka Capital: There are queer people in every party. There is Senator Norris, of Nebraska, on the Republican side, and on the Democratic Senator Walsh, of Montana, who proposes to the Democrats: "Make the platform brief, confining it to controversial questions only, so that everybody might be tempted to read it."

Refrigerated Legs.

Ohio State Journal: One gets used to anything in time, even the sight of suffering, and we've become so accustomed in the last few years to legs that look absolutely frozen that we don't even feel like stopping to render a little first aid any more, let alone telephoning to Red Cross headquarters.

Political Equality.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: Political equality of women in Britain is progressing rapidly. A woman has been elected lord mayor of Liverpool and thirteen other women have been elected mayors in other cities of England and Wales.

Revolutions.

Philadelphia Inquirer: The earth makes one complete revolution every 24 hours, in which respect it differs from some of its turbulent countries, which sometimes have to spend a whole week pushing one faction out and edging the other in.

And a Mortician.

New Orleans Times Picayune: "Tenor John McCormack has been made doctor of music." Well, that's not so useless as it may seem. Certainly a lot of our modern "music" needs the services of a doctor, a surgeon and an osteopath, as well as an anesthetist.

Why He Lost.

Cincinnati Enquirer: Napoleon, says Henry Ford, was an old fool probably because Nap hadn't sense enough to use flippers on the retreat from Moscow. But maybe he was just waiting for the new model.

Domestic Football.

Baltimore Sun: In Montgomery, Ala., there is a high school football team composed of seven pairs of brothers. What is more interesting, according to the report, is the tendency for each pair

Compliments

THIS is a little lesson in the psychology of matrimony. It explains why some wives are unhappy and why some husbands are led astray by predatory ladies who have no respect for property rights. Gen. Jones attends a party and finds himself marooned with a pretty young woman whose head is a vacuum. He talks about himself and she smiles encouragement. Whatever opinion he advances, she nods agreement. And though she hasn't the slightest conception of what he is talking about, her awe of him is obvious and her dumbness makes her seem an excellent listener.

The general is charmed. And he says to his wife when the evening is finished: "Darned sensible girl; full of sound ideas."

And a woman old enough to know better talks with a young man at that same party, and though the youngster is schooled in vice and never will amount to a hill of beans, the obvious admiration in his eyes and his equally obvious eagerness to impress her favorably make her his champion for life. "A wonderful young man," says she; "courtuous and sincere and intelligent, and his ideals are high."

And that is the whole of the story. Man adores the woman who thinks him a wonder and lets him know what she thinks; woman respects the man who thinks her a wonder and tells her about it. Praise, spoken or implied, is the richest source of human happiness. An unsatisfied thirst for praise causes most of our woes.

An orthodox courtship is merely an exchange of flattery. You may call it "sex appeal" if you like, but it feeds on praise. "Your dear eyes are like violets," says he. And because the praise feeds an appetite common to us all, she nestles close and murmurs: "How wonderful you are!"

Well, the way to win a woman is also the way to keep her. When a woman turns from her husband to another man who "understands her," she is merely turning from one who no longer praises her and finding happiness in the arms of one who feeds her vanity. When a man says his wife doesn't appreciate him, he means that she doesn't flatter him. If he is disloyal, it is because he has found a woman who tells him he is a wonder.

It is easy to make a success of matrimony. Just keep on praising one another. A compliment a day keeps the divorce lawyer away.

Lives of great men oft remind us it isn't difficult to seem great if there are enough dumb boys to afford contrast.

The reason a republic is governed by a few is because only a few know what they want.

One reason why the good are more numerous than the wicked is because the classifying is done by the good.

to play the same position, so far as the line-up will permit. Thus two brothers are the ends; another couple the tackles, and a third the guards. But at that, this Alabama team falls short of the one organized in Peking a few years back by the sons of Gen. Yuan Shihkai. In that case, or so the story went, the sons of one wife played ends; of another tackles, &c. And every substitution was an encouragement to sharp domestic discussion.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Tampico—A Reminder.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The presence of the marines in Nicaragua in pursuance of President Coolidge's policy of protecting the interests of the United States and of American citizens in that distracted country is doomed to receive some severe jolts soon after the Seventieth Congress opens its sessions. It has been used by the enemies of the United States in the Latin-American countries to stir up a feeling in those countries against us. We have among us some alleged statesmen who openly advocate keeping hands off in the countries south of us, even should American investments in those countries be sacrificed.

There are in Congress some who will attack the policy of President Coolidge simply because he is a Republican. They seemingly have forgotten that only a few years ago President Wilson sent the fleet to Vera Cruz to compel somebody, somewhere, to salute the American flag, because the authorities at Tampico arrested a few American sailors.

These "statesmen" hailed that spirit of President Wilson as a happy return to the good old days of Jackson. No American interests were endangered. The sailors were not injured. But the dignity of the country had to be vindicated; the Army and the Navy were called into service; a hundred or more people were killed, and then our fleet sailed away without securing a salute of the colors.

Now, when our interests in the canal concession and the investments of individual American citizens are threatened the President calls the marines to active duty, but it is a horrible misuse of power in the eyes of those who so loudly acclaimed Wilson in the Mexican affair. Then it was a Democratic President. Now it is a Republican. There is some difference after all in whose ox does the goring.

N. H. WILLIAMS.

Political Power of the South.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A population basis is the constitutional method of reapportionment for representation in Congress, but under existing voting conditions it is anything but fair. In many of the Southern States 10,000 votes offset 30,000 and even 40,000 in such States as New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois. This is not only true in regard to the election of members of the House of Representatives, but also in the electoral college. By this means the South has an undue number of electors over the North.

If number of votes cast governed, the solid South would no longer cut ice in electing a President. Senator Glass assures us that there may possibly come a day when the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution will be accepted in the Southern States, but until that day arrives the South will continue to exert an unfair power in both Congress and the electoral college.

The North has long suffered under this unequal distribution, but it may awaken some of these days. When it does the South will find its membership in the House, and its power in choosing a President, materially cut down. Thus, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina in 1924 elected 66 electors with a total vote of 2,099,502, while Illinois, Massachusetts and Ohio, with a vote of 5,696,209 only elected 69. Those same States in the South have a representation of 54 members of the House, while the three Northern States with a voting population three and a half millions greater, have but 63. Will the North stand for this always?

ARMY-NAVY GRID GAME
TO BE DESCRIBED ON AIR

Play-by-Play Account to Be Broadcast Direct From Field in New York.

OTHER PROGRAMS TODAY

One of the main topics of conversation in the average American household today—the Army and Navy football game—will be brought to these same homes via the red network of the National Broadcasting Co., including WRC, at 1:45 o'clock. Phillips Carlin and Graham McNamee, known as the radio twins, will take turns at the microphone in describing the game, which is to be broadcast direct from the Polo Grounds, New York City.

A game of much interest in the middle west is that between Notre Dame and the University of Southern California, on the air from Station WMAQ, Chicago, at 12:45 o'clock. Compositions of Dvorak, Beethoven, Debussy and Liszt have been included in the RCA hour program from WRC at 9 o'clock tonight. The New York Symphony Orchestra, directed by Walter Damrosch, will play Dvorak's overture "Carnival," the Allegretto from symphony No. 7 in A by Beethoven and Debussy's "Andantino." Another piece to be played, "The Call of the Plains" is by Rubin Goldmark. Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 1 will be the concluding selection.

Following the game, the Greenwich Village Inn Orchestra, and the Waldorf-Astoria Orchestra will be on the air. The Club St. Marks Orchestra will go on the air for a half-hour at 6:45 o'clock, followed by the Mayflower Hotel Orchestra.

The weekly Bible talk will be given at 6:30 o'clock by H. F. Harmon, under the auspices of the Organized Bible Class Association.

The Philco hour will be broadcast at 9 o'clock.

"Java, the Crowded Isle," will be the subject of the fourth of a series of "Outposts of the Orient" travel talks by Lieut. Col. H. Edmund Bullis from WMAL at 8:30 o'clock. Sophocles T. Papas will play a group of mandolin and guitar solos from the same station, beginning at 9:10 o'clock.

A program made up of characteristic Hawaiian music will be played by the South Sea Islanders in their regular Sunday evening broadcast through WEAF at 7 o'clock tonight. Norman Clark, tenor, and director of this ensemble, will sing two solos, "I'll Be Lonely" and "Just Once Again."

A program of music of a lighter nature has been prepared for the Summer Music program at 11 o'clock tonight from station WJZ, New York. Among the selections are "Mademoiselle Modiste" by Victor Herbert, and "Lehar's The Merry Widow."

The usual Saturday evening programs from the mid-West stations will be broadcast. Among these are the national barn dance programs from WSM at Nashville, Tenn., and WLS, Chicago, Ill., the midnight program from station WGN, Chicago, and from KFI, Los Angeles.

WORK AUCTION BRIDGE
TALK IS HEARD BY 200

When Off Game Consult Instructor, Post's Expert Advises.

An audience of nearly 200, mostly women, gathered in the small ballroom of the Willard Hotel yesterday to hear Milton C. Work, America's foremost authority on auction bridge. Among the women present were Mrs. William Howard Taft and Mrs. Breckenridge Long.

Work, whose articles appear daily in The Washington Post, told his auditors that they should do as golf players do when they are "off" their game. The golf player, he said, will go to an instructor and take a lesson or two, and he declares that the bridge player should do likewise.

There were about 25 men at the lecture, the largest number, Work said, that he ever addressed in the morning. In addition to explaining the fine points of bridge, Work told humorous stories and autographed several of his books. He was invited here by Mrs. John Munce, Jr., and Mrs. Bertram Chesterman, who give a bridge class every Wednesday and Friday at 11 o'clock in the Willard.

WOMAN SAFE IN FALL
IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Plunges to Basement From First Floor in Recorder of Deed's Office.

Mrs. Clara M. Hayworth, 44 years old, of 9 Fourth street northeast, miraculously escaped serious injury yesterday when she dropped from a hanging position under an elevator at the Recorder of Deed's office, 412 Fifth street northwest, falling from the first floor to the bottom of the shaft. Mrs. Hayworth walked through an open door on the first floor as the car began its ascent. Clutching wildly about she grasped the floor edge, to which she clung until her grip weakened.

Laura Sutton, colored, 29 years old, 639 Newton street northwest, operator of the car, swooned as she heard Mrs. Hayworth scream and realized what had occurred. Taken to Emergency Hospital, Mrs. Hayworth was treated for bruises and shock and later sent to her home.

ARMY STRONG FAVORITE TO DEFEAT NAVY TODAY; 110,000 TO SEE NOTRE DAME PLAY S. CALIFORNIA

Coast Eleven Risks Clean Record

Dry Field Is Promised for First Visit of California Team.

Rockne's Team Scored One-Point Decision in 1926 Game.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—The University of Southern California, undefeated, and with only a tie with Stanford to tarnish its brilliant record this season, will engage Notre Dame on Soldier Field tomorrow in the first Eastern invasion of a California team. The battle will be witnessed by another throng of 110,000 spectators, thus equalling the football attendance record for all time, set when the Army played the Navy on the same field a year ago. The demand for tickets has been just as great as for the spectacular service clash, and if Soldier Field could accommodate 250,000 persons all of them would be trying to squeeze into the stadium.

Weather indications tonight point to a mild afternoon, with a temperature considerably above freezing. As a result, the gridiron will be dry and fast, assuring a firm footing. The field has been well protected for a week with a coating of hay.

The Trojans, perhaps the strongest team on the Coast, and possessing individual stars as well as a powerful machine, are actually engaging in more than a football game with Notre Dame.

They are pioneering among California eleven in coming into mid-western territory to play a game, and the result of this sort of inter-sectional play will be watched with interest by football followers throughout the land.

Previous inter-sectional games, involving California teams and those on this side of the Rockies, have been confined altogether to engagements in which the burden of lengthy travel and climatic changes have fallen on California's opponents.

Tomorrow, Southern California reverses that procedure to play the return engagement of the home and home series with Notre Dame. Twice in recent years the Notre Dame teams have made long jaunts to the coast, and twice they have returned victorious. A year

The Grid Situation in Brief

(Associated Press.)

THE prospect is that only the championship races in the Southern and Pacific Coast conferences will remain to be settled after today. Four already have been decided, while a fifth, in the Rocky Mountain Conference, likely will be settled when the two leaders, Colorado Aggies and Colorado College, meet. Here are the situations: CHAMPIONSHIPS DECIDED.

EAST—Pittsburgh and Yale at top, each with strong claim to mythical sectional honors.

WESTERN CONFERENCE—Won by Illinois, with five straight victories.

SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE—Won by Texas Aggies with four victories and one tie.

MISSOURI VALLEY CONFERENCE—Won by Missouri with five triumphs and one defeat.

CHAMPIONSHIPS TO BE DECIDED.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN CONFERENCE—

Two leaders, Colorado Aggies and Colorado College, meet tomorrow. PACIFIC COAST CONFERENCE—Stanford, Southern California and Idaho, all undefeated; final standing hinges on game between Southern California and Washington on December 3. SOUTHERN CONFERENCE—Georgia leading with best record, winning nine straight games from all opponents, but meets Georgia Tech on December 3.

Generals From All the Forts, Admirals From Barges Gather

Noisy Young Cadets and Middies Ready to Hurl Measured Vociferations Back and Forth in Mrs. Coogan's Yard.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—There is some likelihood of a stirring afternoon at old Mrs. Coogan's freehold up in Harlem tomorrow, what with the Army and the Navy teams playing their football game and a lot of generals and admirals saluting and saluting as they tried to holler up from Washington, and two solid bands of noisy young cadets hurling measured vociferations back and forth across the field.

Things have been singularly quiet up at Mrs. Coogan's yard this fall and the harsh, determined outcries of the stockholders as they tried to holler up a little of the old collegiate spirit for the professional football teams on Sunday afternoon have only accentuated the stillness of a stadium where the Army and the Navy play their games from time to time.

You hear little of Mrs. Coogan, but you will have heard much about Coogan's Bluff, the tall, rust-colored rock height rearing up as a sounding board back of the Polo Grounds, where the Giants play ball and the Army and the Navy play football on the alternate years when it is the Army's turn to select the battle ground. Still Mrs. Coogan could show you a deed to prove that every clod of grass kicked off the sheets to prove that she has been hostess to more whooping and yelling and hat throwing these last 30 years than any other individual land owner now alive. Indeed, that Saturday afternoon play-game, with all its attendant splendor, enthusiasm and elegance, ought to be the champion of its kind for the season of 1927.

You start with the fact that the Army-Navy game invariably is a hard and bitter football game, and then you consider the fact that all the generals from all the forts along the Eastern seaboard and all the admirals from all the battle barges in these waters will show up wearing fashions of 18-karat gilt rope and fringe.

Then you take note of the further fact that this show was shanghaied to Chicago last year, thereby excluding thousands of Army and Navy alumni and lay customers who ordinarily consider the Army-Navy game a provincial Eastern spectacle, produced for their special pleasure.

Then there's the idea that 70,000 have been cautiously dealt out, leaving about 20,000 people still wanting tickets. And, in addition to all this, the papers are saying that $100 a pair and no question that the ticket bootleggers of the special pleasure.

As football goes the Army and the Navy could not come on game on top up through the schedule and still go into their feud on the last Saturday of the season feeling that all that had gone before was utterly trivial.

Naturally they aim to take no unnecessary cloutings from outsiders and they usually arrive at the date of their game with respectable records, but the Army-Navy is the climax of a rivalry that makes even the celebrated Harvard-Yale intensity seem loose and half hearted.

And they have battled along so evenly in a series of 29 games, dating from 1890 that the Army, which happens to be leading just now, is only up with four victories, to a 10-20 for the Midshipmen, three games having been tied, including the one in Chicago last year.

There has been some comment on the Army practice of using players with full careers of intercollegiate football behind them, sometimes known as twenty-year men, but this advantage in experience doesn't seem to have made much difference. The Navy school, be-

Walker Beats Berlenbach On Points

Middleweight Champ Has Best of Furious Bout.

Both Fighters Employed Lefts to Advantage; Both Shaken.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 25 (A.P.).—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of the world, won a decision over Paul Berlenbach here tonight. Each failed in his prediction of a knockout, but the bout was furious from start to finish.

Walker was deliberate in the fifth round in trying to measure Berlenbach for a knockout. He never failed with a left hook to the body.

Berlenbach cracked Walker with a hard left hook to the sixth that shook him up, but Mickey came back, sinking his lefts to the body and shooting his right to the chin.

The title-holder landed lefts and rights to the chin as the seventh opened, but appeared to be tiring. Walker had respect for Berlenbach's left, which Paul used to good advantage in the clinches.

In the eighth, Walker sunk a left hook to the body that almost doubled Berlenbach up. Paul drew blood from whom he knocked out in two hard lefts.

Berlenbach stepped into a hard right to the chin that knocked him back on his heels just before the session ended.

Walker started in to give a demonstration of plain and direct slugging in the first round by nailing Berlenbach with a vicious right and lefts to the head, but, failing to upset him, he sunk three hard left hooks to the body just before the round ended, slowing Berlenbach up. Berlenbach kept driving his left hook to the body at close quarters.

Walker dropped left hooks to the body and then shot hooks to the chin in the second round. Berlenbach gamely absorbed these punches, twice crowding Walker to the ropes and punishing him with left ribs to the body. Walker was finding Berlenbach much tougher and gamier than Mike McGuire, whom he knocked out in one sensational round here last month.

The pace slowed up a bit in the third round, but Walker to ring up with a hard right and left to the jaw. Berlenbach then chased him to the ropes, driving both fists to the head and body, but failing to force the fight as the round ended.

Walker boxed more cautiously in the fourth, hooking his left to the body. Berlenbach refused to meet up with him, however, and was severely punished for his gameness. Walker rushed Berlenbach to the ropes, floored Berlenbach for low punches, and then he was hit by him. Berlenbach was groggy when he got up, but reeled around until the bell rang.

Blackstone Named All-N. J. State Center

Frank Blackstone, former football and basketball star at Central High School and chosen as an all-High selection in both sports, has been named all-New Jersey Stat. prop center. Blackstone played brilliantly a season at Princeton prep and has been named to report for the freshmen squad when he enters Princeton next fall.

Princeton Prep won the New Jersey State title this year with a team which is hailed as the greatest it has ever had.

Morton Wilner, another Central High School star, was named to the varsity letter this year. Wilner, who has two more years to play, is counted on heavily for next year's team.

New York-Missouri May Play 3 Games

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 25 (A.P.).—A three-game, East and West inter-sectional football series has been arranged tentatively between the University of Missouri and New York University. C. L. Brewer, director of athletics at Missouri, announced today. The games will be played on November 17, at the American League baseball park in New York, the second in Memorial Stadium here in 1929, and the third in New York in 1930.

Changes in Gridiron Rules Should Be Retained, Says "Pop" Warner

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—Eastern football is "all right"—and so is the football of other sections, but the gridiron rules, give Glenn "Pop" Warner the game as it is played on the Pacific Coast.

The football of the Pacific Coast, Stanford, whose husky leaders of the coast conference probably will be called upon to beat Pittsburgh in the classic post-season clash at East, has played next to the best of the coast. "Pop" came back to Pittsburgh yesterday to watch the team he coached from 1915 through 1923 swamp Penn State, 100 to 0, under the direction of "Jock" Sutherland, a crack guard on the greatest eleven Warner thinks he ever tutored—that of 1918. And as "Pop" watched his prospective rivals fight, he found much to marvel at in a driving eleven that cuffed the Nittany Lions about as no other team has this season.

"That team," said Warner, "is the best I have seen this year, and

RISKO BEATS HILEAH MEET PAULINO ON DECISION WILL OPEN ON JAN. 1

Cleveland Heavy Now Dismissal of Suit in Leading Contender Test Case Not to Affect Opening.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—In a furious and bruising heavyweight battle Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, fought his way to the front ranks of title contenders with a clean-cut ten-round victory over Paulino Uzcudun, of Spain, at Madison Square Garden tonight. Uzcudun weighed 198; Risko, 192.

It was a clash of a "rubber man" in Risko and a man of cement, steel-reinforced in Paulino, with the honors clearly in favor of the bouncing youth from Cleveland. The heaviest of the Spaniard's drives seemed to bother him only in the sixth and eighth rounds, when the constant pounding to the midsection tired Risko perceptibly.

Time and again Risko lashed out with solid right-hand drives the head as they broke from clinches, and the blows frequently sent the Spaniard spinning into corners of the ring.

Paulino was game, however; never knew he was "licked," and even at the close, when he was steamrolled back in the toe-to-toe fashion that always has brought him victory here.

Although Risko was guilty of much holding toward the finish of the fight when each fought for wind in between clinches, Paulino drew two severe warnings from Referee Lou Magnolia for low punches. Some of the blows hurt Risko perceptibly, however.

For almost every minute of the struggle, a slashing, bruising combat that found both exhausted at the close, Risko, the baker boy, met the Spaniard at his own game and outslugged him. Time and again he was hit, but Paulino victor over Harry Wills, Tom Heeney and Knute Hansen during his American invasion, was groggy and reeling at the close.

In each of the ten rounds Risko chose to stand head to head with the Spaniard, pouring in a steady volley of rights and lefts to the head while Paulino concentrated his fire on the body, and 15,000 fans rocked the Garden for low punches. Some of the blows hurt Risko perceptibly, however.

Wagner, captain at Pitt in 1913, dropped his medical practice long enough to appoint himself Warner's secretary and inform all but well-known callers that "Pop" was in his "bawth."

"They come West thrilled to pieces by the spectacle, spurred to topmost fighting pitch by floods of letters and telegrams from everyone back home praying for their success, and they battle as only the underdog can in strange surroundings. There is a

New York Host To Service Classic

Seats Bringing $150; West Point Record Far Superior.

Lloyd, Hope of Sailors, Opposed to Cagle and Wilson.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (A.P.).—A powerful, seasoned squad of football stalwarts in Army gray and a younger band in the Navy's blue encamped tonight on the outskirts of this city in readiness for their thirtieth annual "private fight" at the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Legions and battalions of supporters drawn by the prospect of one of the most colorful spectacles in sport meanwhile were converging on the city and taking it by storm. Of the estimated 700,000 persons who sought seats for the service classic, President Coolidge will not attend but Secretaries Davis and Wilbur will be there to represent the rival War and Navy establishments along with scores of high service officials, and prominent figures in National, State and city life.

On its record of only one defeat this year and that at the hands of Yale, as well as on its imposing array of veterans of last season's 21-to-21 tie, the Army ruled a decided favorite. Odds which at one time were quoted at 2 to 1, however, showed a tendency to shrink.

Comparative scores of the games played against Notre Dame—the only opponent met this season by both services—showed a tendency to shrink.

TWO RECORDS BRO

Clear Sky Sets New Mark In Feature

Sortie Better Time in Mile Contest for 2-Year-Olds. Centrifugal Matches Record in Second; Scat Scores.

Special to The Washington Post.

BOWIE RACE TRACK, Nov. 25.—Two more track records were smashed and another equaled during the day's program. Sortie shattered the mile mark when he won the third race for 2-year-olds in 1:30. The mile and a half record fell in the fifth race when Clear Sky raced to victory in 2:11. Centrifugal previously had tied the six and a half furlong record when he won the second race in 1:18.

There were seven excellent distance performers to test their speed and endurance over the trying route of the fifth event that had decision over the mile and one-half route and J. A. Smallman, a Canadian sportsman, who acquired Clear Sky for a goodly consideration from J. Lowe before the running, had the unusual honor of seeing his acquisition make good at first asking. This number was styled the Banning purse and a new record was being run up for the day.

Clear Sky was best as the race was run, as he suffered interference when he was sent into a pocket at the end of the stretch, but when clear he moved his opposition down rapidly, and at the end he showed the way by four lengths to Knockout, who was a goodly second by a neck from Griffling, and who closed very strong, while the others were well beaten.

Corinth was permitted to make the pace, and it was suicidal for Herbert to permit him to step away at a sprinting clip with the result that he showed up before covering the first mile and it took very little speed to race by him. Knockout was first to pass him, but Clear Sky had begun his charge and there was no danger of his being overtaken. He moved along so smoothly, no score easily in the good time of 2:11.7-6.

Two-year-olds furnished fine entertainment this afternoon with the race of the offerings were over the mile route and each brought together rather a nice lot of juveniles. The first of these went to A. C. Schwartz's Sortie, who led home Mivida in record time of 1:30, while the second was taken by R. T. Will on Sunfire, who outdistanced A. W. Wenden's Bystander.

The second division of the Sunset Purse, the mile race for juveniles, furnished something of a surprise when Sunfire was the winner, but it had not been for the presence of Mrs. S. Mayberry's Mivida in the field it is probable that Bystander would have scored.

As the race was run, Bystander and Sunfire went out in the pace and the fully hung right with Bystander until she had taken so much out of the colt that he could not withstand the stretch rush of Sunfire.

The Wilson colt moved up gradually in the run through the backstretch and turning for home he was right with the leaders. A surging out Bystander went to the whip on Sunfire but it was of no avail, Sunfire's race was over and the final furlong to win going away.

The first of the mile offerings for juveniles saw A. C. Schwartz's Sortie outrun him to the first turn and once he had his colt nicely in his stride he was content to rest him along back of Mivida. Miss Maryland and Chancellor followed in close order, while Palm Beach, after showing a flash of speed, dropped back rather badly.

Heading for the stretch, Sortie made his first move on Sortie, but as he drew up on Mivida, Baker closed up the Cassidy colt and he hung on discouragingly. Then into the stretch, when Sortie drew up on the outside of Mivida, he had to rouse him sharply. He was on by a few strides, but when he was hardly clear of Mivida he swerved in and play and Baker was forced to take up.

At the time Mivida was beaten, but it was expected Baker would lodge a claim of foul. This, however, was not done, and the order of the finish was not disturbed, when Sortie finished two lengths to the good. Chancellor, four lengths further back, just saved third from Sortie, which was closing strongly, while Miss Maryland had stopped.

The Flamingo Farm's Centrifugal, installed a strong choice for the second number that attracted a lot of twelve sprinters, and for which he received the most support, was returned the winner in a drive to score by a scant neck from the Mahoppe Stable's Bystander, while just a length farther back came J. Arthur's Sir Bystar to lead the others to the finish in the good time of 1:18. Bystander and the winner had the issue between them mainly from the start, with the former showing the way. Centrifugal was equal to the task, however, and overtook the tiring Mahoppe starter during the final quarter mile.

Voe Sweeney Becomes Star in Back Field With Apaches.

Joe Colliere to Lead Mohawks in Title Game Tomorrow.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

It happened at old Union Park five years ago and in a championship football game played in January. Neither team had scored. Only a minute of the game remained. His team had the ball on the three-yard line. His leg had been caught in a pile of players on the previous play and he could not drag himself to his feet. He knew that his team had used its allotted number of timeouts and that if he called for a delay a penalty would result. Those added yards to gain on the fourth down might be the difference between a tie and a victory.

From his quarter back position he managed to crawl over to an end. He sent the end to the back field and called the play. A stocky teammate crashed over the goal line for a touchdown and the Stanton Juniors, undefeated and not scored upon for two years, kept their record free from blemish and won their second straight 135-pound championship.

The little quarter back, who was on crutches for a month after the game, was Joe Sweeney, back field star of the Apaches, and the chunky boy who scored the touchdown was "Fee" Colliere, brilliant Mohawk quarter back.

Tomorrow, before a crowd that is expected to reach 10,000, these former teammates will be on opposite sides in a battle for the District unlimited championship at American League Park. Both have reached sandlot stardom in the unlimited division.

Following the days when the Stanton practiced by the light of an alley lamp and when Sweeney was known as "Little Jack Flavin," the youngsters played as teammates. Colliere went to Gonzaga, where he played for a season at Eastern and then returned to the sandlots. Both would probably have made good in capital letters if they had chosen collegiate fields for their football. However, for fellows who work, the sandlot battles offer an outlet for athletic energy and the glory does not shine as brightly as that earned by their collegiate brethren of the game.

Both Colliere and Sweeney have improved by leaps and bounds. The former was quarterback last season when Tony Abbottole was a member of the Mohawks. The former Mount St. Mary's star, who almost beat Georgetown, is said to have been an aid to Colliere in his improvement.

Colliere still is a shabby little fellow, who looks more like a substitute guard than a good quarterback. In addition to directing the play, he is an expert punter, particularly where the art of kicking outside within the 20-yard line is concerned. He is the team's chief passer and a dependable ball carrier.

Sweeney has been shifted to half back by the Apaches. Believed of the responsibilities of the quarter back position, his efficiency as a passer and runner has greatly increased. He has the speed necessary for long, sweeping end runs and has the football intelligence to cut in and sidestep. He has seldom failed to gain this season and has many long runs to his credit.

Both as a thrower and receiver of forward passes, Sweeney is a constant menace to opposing teams. In the game tomorrow there are many players who, like Colliere and Sweeney, played their way to stardom

OPPONENTS IN SANDLOT CLASS

Right Kille, For East Tennessee. When the Mohawks and Apaches meet tomorrow for the District title two former teammates will be opponents. They are Joe Sweeney, Apache half back (on the left) and "Fee" Colliere, Mohawk quarterback.

By F. W. PATTERSON.

The expansion which began in 1922 has not all been in the form of new kinds of commerce. Grover C. Jones, director of the finance and investment department of the Federal Reserve Board, told members of the Department of Commerce in a luncheon address at the Washington Hotel yesterday that the first big change in the character of the country's business since the war was the "fayettization" of the country.

Commercial borrowing has increased very little. Virtually all of the increase in bank credit, however, has been in the form of loans secured by increased collateral, loans against securities, increased bank holdings of real estate, increased bank holdings of mortgages, and increased bank holdings of government securities.

$750,000 IS ASKED IN DEFICIENCY BILL FOR DISTRICT NEEDS

House Committee Is Urged to Sanction Appropriations
Lost by Filibuster.

PART OF MONEY SOUGHT FOR DETENTION HOUSE

Some Items That Failed in the Last Session Included in New Budget.

Deficiency and supplemental appropriations that were lost to the District when the Reed slush fund filibuster caused a legislative jam at the last session of Congress were requested again yesterday at a hearing before a subcommittee of the House appropriations committee.

Appearing before the committee, Commissioners Dougherty and Taliaferro asked for deficiency and supplemental appropriations totaling $750,000.

District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan and the heads of several departments explained the various items to the committee.

Money Needed for Clinic.
Part of the money is needed to rent new quarters for the House of Detention and the Health Department clinic, which must move to make way for the Federal building program in the Mall.

The items that were covered in the deficiency bill that died in the Reed filibuster called for a total appropriation of $1,368,000, but several of these items, such as the Columbia Hospital nurses' home, now have been placed in the budget estimates for 1928.

Among the items requested yesterday were as follows:

For St. Elizabeths Hospital, $221,000; for purchase of medical identification tags for horse-drawn and motor vehicles, $3,500; for advance notices of tax returns, $2,085.44; for employee compensation commission, $4,000; for refund of erroneous tax collections, $1,500; for refund of awards and expenses incident to the opening of Georgia avenue to Ninth street northwest and for widening Nichols avenue between Good Hope road and 8 street southeast, for widening First street between G and Myrtle streets, $1,500; repairs to Highway Bridge and Klinge Road Bridge $424.44; policemen and firemen relief fund, $135,000; for additional compensation for the chief justice and the five associate justices of the District Supreme Court, $7,500.

The amounts asked for new quarters for the House of Detention, the health clinic and several other items were not divulged by the Commissioners.

Life Sentence Given Murderer of Woman

Robert Jones, colored, who pleaded guilty to a charge of second degree murder, was sentenced yesterday by Chief Justice Mc Coy, in Criminal Court, to imprisonment for life. Jones cut the throat of Ruth Powell, also colored, on July 23, at 1341 E street northwest, in a jealous rage. He was originally indicted for first degree murder.

George R. Hawkins, colored, who twice looted the store of the Columbia Fruit & Candy Co., was sentenced to serve three years in prison on charges of grand larceny. Clinton T. Flannigan, also colored, was sentenced to serve two years on charges of forging deeds of trust and promissory notes.

Suspended Policeman Swallows Poison

Despondent because of having been suspended from the police force Thursday night, Charles E. Mettler, 28 years old, of 16 Bates street northwest, formerly of the Ninth Precinct, swallowed poison in the drug store of W. F. Napier, 810 Florida avenue northwest, yesterday. He was taken to Freedmen's Hospital, where his condition is undetermined.

Promotion Is Sought By 201 Policemen

Policemen to the number of 201 have applied for civil service examinations for promotion under the new rule recently adopted. Physical examination of the applicants was begun yesterday. Dates for the other tests have not been announced.

TREASURY NEGOTIATIONS BEGUN FOR TWO TRACTS

Land Sought for New Agriculture Department and Archives Building.

OLDEST THEATER TO GO

Negotiations for acquisition by the Government of two tracts of land included in the proposed sites of the new Agriculture and Archives Buildings on the Mall extension, have been initiated, Treasury officials said yesterday.

The tracts for which negotiations have been started are one bounded by Ninth and Tenth streets, and B street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and another bounded by B and C streets, and Fourteenth street and Linworth place southwest.

The Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue tract is wanted for the Archives Building, which is to cost $6,000,000, of which Congress has already appropriated $1,000,000. This building is to be placed in the center of the site and will be eventually surrounded on three sides by a U-shape group of other Government buildings.

The steps being taken by the Government to acquire this tract foreshadow the early passing of the old theater in Washington, on Ninth street just south of Pennsylvania avenue. The history of this theater antedates the Civil War days, and during the "glorious nineties" its boards were tread by the foremost artists of the day. The house's attractions, however, deteriorated with its ever increasing age, and from the grand opera of its heyday, it closed its doors a few years ago showing the cheapest burlesque.

The other tract is wanted for the Department of Agriculture Building, which is to be planned to extend from Twelfth to Fourteenth on B street southwest.

Several condemnation proceedings are being conducted by the Department of Justice for tracts included in the Government building program, but where possible acquisition by direct purchase is preferred. The negotiations now under way for the sites of the Agriculture and Archives Buildings contemplate direct purchase from the owners.

With the site of the new Department of Commerce Building being cleared, the question of relocating the Treasury annex, housing a branch of the income tax unit, at Fourteenth and B streets northwest, is waiting decision. The Treasury Department has requested that the present accommodations be not changed until after January 1, but present plans call for the site being cleared by March 15, although it is thought that this can be advanced.

The Public Buildings Commission expects to notify the Treasury of its decision Monday.

RETURN OF REISS' FLYING LICENSE HELD VICTORY

Hoover Cuts Fine of Pilot, Whose Plane Struck Pony, to $25.

CASE MAY BE CLOSED

Restoration of his flying license and reduction of his fine from $500 to $25 by Secretary of Commerce Hoover yesterday was accepted by Stewart A. Reiss, commercial aviator charged with violation of the flying regulations at Hoover flying field, Va., as a "moral victory and vindication," his counsel, Jesse Duke, declared.

Reiss was accused of low flying, in violation of the Department of Commerce regulations, on October 13, which resulted in the landing gear of his plane striking a pony that he was trying to chase from the field.

The Department of Commerce immediately upon receipt of the report of the accident revoked Reiss' flying license for 90 days, and notified him that he was subject to a fine of $500. At hearings before Assistant Secretary of Commerce William F. MacCracken, Jr., in charge of aeronautics, subsequently granted Reiss, former Brig. Gen. William Mitchell testified for the defense.

A report of the hearings, with a recommendation from Assistant Secretary MacCracken, was turned over to Secretary Hoover last week, and he announced his decision yesterday in a letter to Reiss.

"After reviewing the facts in your case, it is my decision that this suspension should terminate on the twenty-fifth day of November, 1927, and after that date your authority to act as a licensed pilot must be restored," Secretary Hoover's letter said.

While counsel for Reiss believes his client has a good case to take to the federal court indicated yesterday at that in view of the fact that the penalty is small, Reiss may choose to close his case by paying a fine, rather than making a costly appeal.

OVER HERE—OVER THERE—

STOPPING TO CATCH THEIR BREATH BEFORE LAUNCHING THE SECOND DRIVE ON THE CHANNEL PORTS IN THE BATTLE OF THE LYS, THE GERMANS UNDERTOOK A SHORT BUT VICIOUS BLOW AGAINST THE BRITISH, SOUTH OF THE AMIENS FRONT.

ON APRIL 24, 1918, THE GERMANS, AFTER A TERRIFIC BOMBARDMENT STARTED THEIR ATTACK.

THE VILLAGE OF VILLERS-BRETONNEUX, NEAR AMIENS, WAS THE FIRST GERMAN OBJECTIVE.

FOUR FRESH DIVISIONS FELL UPON THE TOWN, SUPPORTED BY THE FIRST GERMAN TANKS.

THE GERMAN TANKS, HUGE LUMBERING HULKS OF STEEL, FOLLOWED BY THE INFANTRY, SWARMED OVER THE SMOLDERING RUINS OF THE VILLAGE. OUTNUMBERED FOUR TO ONE, THE BRITISH GAVE WAY BEFORE THE PRESSURE OF THE ATTACK.

The First German Tanks.

AT 10 O'CLOCK THAT NIGHT THE AUSTRALIANS, WITHOUT ANY ARTILLERY PREPARATION, BUT UNDER THE PROTECTION OF A FOG, SURROUNDED THE TOWN AND IN ONE OF THE BLOODIEST SLAUGHTERS OF THE WAR, FORCED THE GERMANS OUT.

BRITISH TANKS, NEW, SMALL AND FAST, PRESSED ON THE RETREATING GERMANS. PLATOONS AND COMPANIES WERE WIPED OUT BY THE WITHERING FIRE FROM THE TANKS. BLOOD, SMOOTHERING THE SIDES OF THE RETURNING TANKS, EVIDENCED THE HORROR OF THE ENCOUNTER.
